EXTERNAL SCHOLARSHIPS

auburn.edu/scholarship

External Scholarships are scholarships awarded by employers, individuals, companies, high schools, religious groups, and professional associations independently of Auburn University. Criteria for External Scholarships vary greatly from scholarship to scholarship, but generally include academic performance, financial need, religious affiliation, minority status, heritage, community affiliations, or other unique criteria important to the sponsoring individual or organization. Students are encouraged to pursue as many External Scholarships as possible. Although Auburn University does not limit the number or amount of External Scholarships a student can receive, External Scholarships received may affect the amount of federal financial aid for which a student is eligible.

Independent Search Engines

There are hundreds of independent scholarship search engines on the internet, some of them more reliable and legitimate than others. Students should not have to pay for a scholarship search or to apply for a scholarship, though they may have to "register" with an email address. Here are a few reputable search engines.

BlackExcel.org

A great resource for underrepresented students (students of color, women, first generation college students) and a list of over 200 scholarships with a variety of opportunities.

CollegeBoard.org/scholarships

College Board (the same company that administers the PSAT, SAT, and AP tests) has a great database that allows students to input details for a tailored search based on gender, location, interests, and affiliations.

CollegeScholarships.org

CollegeScholarships.org allows students to browse scholarships based on minority status, degree level, academic interest, geography, student type, or athletic ability. CollegeScholarship.org also has several scholarships they sponsor.

Fastweb.com

One of the largest and widely known scholarship search engines in the United States, FastWeb offers advice on how to apply for scholarships, complete the FAFSA, and search for scholarships for all types of students.

Scholarships.com

Scholarships.com provides several scholarships in an easy to use format where opportunities are ranked based on a personal profile.

ScholarshipExperts.com

ScholarshipExperts.com has an extensive database that is updated regularly and has information for undergraduate and graduate students.

ScholarshipsAndGrants.us

ScholarshipsAndGrants.us is a great resource for students looking for additional scholarship money. This resource has an easy to use layout that divides scholarships into majors and interests.

Scholarship Announcements

The Office of University Scholarships routinely receives information regarding the availability of certain External Scholarships. Information about these scholarships is posted in the Auburn University Scholarship Opportunity Manager (AUSOM), accessible through the Auburn University student portal for accepted incoming students and current Auburn students, as well as on Facebook and Twitter. To receive scholarship announcements via social media, like Auburn University Scholarships on Facebook and follow @AUScholarships on Twitter.

Scholarship Resource Books

A number of scholarship resource books are available at your local library or bookstore to guide you in your scholarship search. The Office of University Scholarships routinely purchases and updates printed materials concerning External Scholarships. These books are available for students to review in our office at any time during regular office hours. For a list of recommended scholarship resource books, please visit auburn.edu/scholarship.

Free Application for Federal Student Aid

Some External Scholarship donors may require students demonstrate financial need. Students are encouraged to complete the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA)* online at fafsa.ed.gov beginning in January of each year to receive consideration for all need-based scholarships, grants, and loans. Check with the External Scholarship donor to determine if completion of the FAFSA is required when applying.

Enrollment and Academic Verification

Occasionally, External Scholarship donors require proof of enrollment prior to sending funds. Students should contact the Office of the Registrar located in Mary Martin Hall at (334) 844-4770 or visit auburn.edu/registrar for information on requesting enrollment verification.

External Scholarship donors may also require that current Auburn students provide proof of academic standing to continue to receive funding. Students should contact the Office of the Registrar located in Mary Martin Hall at (334) 844-4770 or visit auburn.edu/registrar for information on requesting an official transcript.

External Scholarship Donors

External Scholarship donors should make checks payable to Auburn University and send them to the Office of University Scholarships. Scholarship checks made payable to Auburn University and the student or to the student only require student endorsement before they can be applied to the student's University billing account. If a scholarship check requires student endorsement, the Office of University Scholarships will contact the student via the student's University email address. All External Scholarship checks should include the student's full name as well as the student's identification number.

External Scholarship checks should be mailed to:

Office of University Scholarships
Attn: External Scholarships
115 Quad Center
Auburn, Alabama 36849-5145

For more information and additional External Scholarship resources, visit auburn.edu/scholarship.

Auburn University does not endorse or certify the legitimacy of any search engine listed on this page.

*The FAFSA is the only form a student is required to complete to be considered for student assistance from any of the Title IV, HEA programs except for information needed to ensure the student's eligibility for such assistance (e.g., information needed to complete verification or to demonstrate compliance with the student eligibility provisions of the HEA and the regulations). Additional information, if requested, will be listed on the student's Tiger Financial Aid Requirements page after the student's FAFSA results are received. For additional information, visit auburn.edu/finaid.
